WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 14, 1880.

ANCIENT FEMALE LAWYERS.-Not every lady and gentleman who has this season applauded Miss Terry's Portia is aware that about the date when the "M-rehant of Venice" may be supposed to have exhibited his gaberdire on the Rialto, there ac ually existed great female lawyers in the neighboring city of Bolog na. Prof. Calderini, who held the chair of jurisprudence in that university in 1360, and Prof. Novella, who occurred it in 1366 were not only celebrated for their legal lore and skill, but, if we may trust their portrai s, expeedingly beautiful women, with public Grecian profiles. dressed in a style which Miss Terry might have copied without disadvantage. If women hereafter again obtain entracee into the legal profession, it is not at all improbable that we may see someling more of the keepness of femiline wits engaged in disentangling the knots of the law. Two ladies in Ir land, according to the Times' Dublin corr spondent, have just been conducting their own most intricate cases in a manner which excited the suprise of the Master of the Rolls, who even observed that he was "astonished that the ladies had been able to put their ease on paper so intelligently and clearly wi hour legal advice." If other ladies should follow the example of the Misses Fo garty, what a falling off must cosue to the soli citors' bills! They lost their case, it is true, but seen ingly could not have won it under any guidance; and at all events they have escaped that great aggravation of the misory of defeat in a court of law-the lawyer's coasts .- Pall Mall
